Privacy Statement

The privacy of your medical information is important to us, and we are committed to protecting it. The following is an outline of our office policy regarding that information.

Use and disclosure of your medical information:

We will only disclose your protected healthcare information for the following purposes:

For treatment: Other healthcare providers may need to know about your treatment here so they can assist in your continuing care. We also send out appointment reminders and make confirmation phone calls.

For payment: For example: Your insurance company will need your specific information to process any claims and our billing and collection representatives may need the information also.

As required by law: Certain government agencies have access to health information to protect the public and identify missing persons among other things.

Marketing: We do not share your information for any marketing purposes.

Your rights:

Copies: You may look at or get copies of your records. Your request must be made in writing and we reserve the right to charge a reasonable fee.

List: You may request a list of all the times we have released your information.

Restrictions: You can request additional restrictions be placed on your records or how we communicate that information. We will comply if we can.

Changes: You can request that we change your information.

Complaints: If you think we have violated your privacy rights, please contact us. You may also submit a written complaint to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. We will provide you with the address if needed.
